

Graham Hooper began his career in magistrates' courts as a Trainee Court Clerk in the Petty Sessional Division of Godstone in Surrey in 1980. In 1982 he moved to Sutton in Outer London where he stayed until 1987 when he became a Deputy Clerk to the Loughborough, Melton and Belvoir and Rutland Justices. He became a Justices' Clerk in North Leicestershire in 1994 in which post he stayed until 1998 when he took up his current position as Justices' Clerk in Nottinghamshire. Graham was called to the Bar in 1984 and completed a Diploma in Management Studies in 1991.