

Melinda Hunt has worked in the court service since 1988, when she started as a trainee legal adviser, sponsored by the Home Office and was called to the Bar in 1994. Melinda has been a family specialist since 1991. Since 2003 she has held a managerial role and is currently Deputy Justices' Clerk, Family, London Region. Melinda has been a Council member since 2008. Outside of work she enjoys travelling, good food, the theatre (both watching and taking part) and spending time with her family. Since Sept 2009 Melinda has been seconded to the cross-government National Safeguarding Delivery Unit working closely with family policy units within MoJ and DofE.